

Keep arts in schools .org

An online community for advocates

August 21, 2007

| What's the latest? | Get inspired! | In case you missed it... |

What's the latest?

Arts Active Parents Take on the World...Record

Alameda schools have taken on an ambitious task to gain entry into the Guinness Book of World Records by creating the world's largest chalk drawing, an effort led by parents who are artists. Read all about it in the Alliance for Arts Learning Leadership's newsletter.

Where Literacy and Creativity Meet

Third grade is a pivotal time in a child's life for mastering basic reading and writing skills. For Third graders in Cleveland, Art is Education! Learn how the Cleveland public schools are integrating the arts and literacy.

California Program Takes Art to the Heart of Learning

Arts integration begins with great educators. Learn how the Arts Education Initiative at Berkeley is changing the culture of professional education programs.

Get inspired!

Online with Arts Education

KeepArtsInSchools is gaining popularity in the online social networking community. Sign up and join our group on Myspace or Facebook. Also see what arts sites we've bookmarked on Del.icio.us and Digg.com.

When High School is An Art Museum

What if your high school was a museum of arts and culture? We caught up with Ms. Theresa Kump Leghorn, director of the first ever museum housed inside a public high school. Click here for a preview of the segment.

In case you missed it...

Controversial Book Debates the Benefits of Visual Arts Education

A new book due out next month discusses the challenge of measuring the benefits of visual arts education. Click here to read the New York Times review.

Target Audiences for Arts Education

Who do you need to reach? Target audiences can vary in shapes and sizes. Check out our tips on how to reach out to the various target audiences for arts education advocacy.

