What's the latest?

All across the country parents, educators and artists are trying to assess how the No Child Left Behind (NCLB) policy affects students, school curricula and especially, arts education. For answers, we spoke with national leader Jack Jennings, Founder and President of the Center on Education Policy. Click here to read the interview, then visit our NCLB Advocacy Toolkit.

Voices of Innovation

New Rochelle High School in New York has taken learning to a whole new level. Click here to hear an interview with Theresa Kump Leghorn, the director of the nation's only Museum of Arts and Culture in a public high school.

An Artful Guide

Minneapolis' Arts for Academic Achievement's Artful Handbook is now available for download on our Web site. Get ideas on how to integrate arts into your school curriculum here.

In case you missed it...

Only 3 days to go! March is Arts Education Month

Parents, teachers, administrators and arts enthusiasts all over the country are gearing up to show their support for arts education. What are you doing to make your voice heard? Still need ideas? Check out our toolkit for arts advocates and get active today.
